The Demarkations of Genius - Dr Jason Betts • 18/06/17 • The World Genius Directory • www.psiq.org

1. That I am the greatest, most brilliant mind that can encompass all that is and wonder in its splendour.
2. That, given time, I may understand every secret and code of nature and relish in its perfect, true glory.
3. That I can understand the communications of nature via its beings and systems, feedback and environs.
4. That the world and the others are places to discover, that exploration superceeds all else, except survival.
5. That, currently, the world values politics and money above genius and wisdom, and acts carelessly upon it.
6. That society is mundane to the point of trival, that they cannot understand the magninity of all that matters.
7. That the ungenius heckles, belies and refrains from embracing genius, but not the fruits of it, at close range.
8. That I expect a Terminator to enter my house at any moment to extinguish these thoughts from human society.
9. The opera of existant effort, devotion and the consciousness of brilliance superceeds the trivial of the mundane.
10. That a wholly global system of wisdom and pure democracy be unleashed upon the world in all its fullest glory.
