Occupation/Professional Goals:

I work as a child and youth worker at a school in Norway. I am soon to finish with my six years of studies at both UIA, the University of Agder in Kristiansand and USN, University of Sørøst-Norge in Notodden to be able to work as a teacher at both high school level and adult educational level. I also had six years study at vocational schools. My professional goal is to bring awareness in Norwegian schools about gifted students and their needs to get them the correct help with their studies to assist them to achieve their goals in life.

Why work with IQ:

Working with IQ is meaningful for me by way of connecting with other high IQ people, understanding how they think and interact. I have made eight high range tests to date, published at my test site, www.toriqtestsite.com. These tests were designed for the high IQ people to try out and enjoy but anyone can enjoy them! My most recent one is FSLT and more tests will be coming in the future. Working with IQ in different ways is for me the perfect way of living and compliments my goals of teaching, learning and thinking.

Statement for the World:

To let the world know about us, be proud of our giftedness, and help welcome others invite everyone we know into the high IQ world that we all know and love and show that IQ is a good thing. Thanks to all that voted me for WGD 2019 Genius of the Year (Europe)!
